

Mother's Friend

To be beautiful is to be loved by all. If there lives the woman who is indifferent to this she is yet to be heard of. Yet from time immemorial society has recognized what they thought to be a detriment in the way of such a realization. The bearing of children has meant to them the marring of physical beauty of figure, without which beauty of face would be of little account. Nothing could be more remote from truth than this; childbirth is purely a natural phenomenon, accompanied by pain, to be sure, but if properly managed no more harmful in its effects upon the human form divine than any other natural function.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Is essential in the proper management of every case of labor; it relaxes and softens the abdominal muscles, thereby enabling them to sustain the stretching that they must undergo, and from this very fact it facilitates their return to normal proportions after childbirth, and it is obvious that pain must be greatly lessened from this very reason.

It is a liniment, it is harmless, it is potent, it is priceless in its results, it is Mother's Friend. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. Our book of priceless value sent free to all women.

THE GRAVE OF A SEMINOLE INDIAN

GREATEST CURIOSITY EVER DISCOVERED IN THE FLORIDA EVERGLADES.

(Miami Metropolis.)

A few weeks ago a representative of the Metropolis, while passing through Fort Lauderdale, was informed that there were many Indians in that vicinity in a highly excited state of mind, making many threats, and expressing much displeasure because the grave of a member of their tribe had been discovered and robbed. It was impossible to obtain authentic information on the subject, as those who knew anything of the affair were very close-mouthed about it. It was learned, however, that a representative of the United States government arrived in Fort Lauderdale and was making an investigation. It was afterwards reported that the body had been returned to the Indians, but from the following from the Times-Union, it would seem either the body was not returned or that it was recovered and shipped north. The Times-Union says:

An Indian in his grave, the greatest curiosity ever discovered in the Everglades in Florida, was in Jacksonville yesterday being prepared for shipment to Atlantic City, N. J.

This great curiosity was found by H. N. Neal, a well-known resident of West Palm Beach, about two months ago, just seventy-five miles west of that place.

The coffin, or grave, as the Indians term it, is made of cypress timbers, a half-tree forming the sides and half-trees making the bottom and top. This Indian grave was found on an island in the heart of the Everglades in a dense thicket, so dense, in fact, that Mr. Neal was compelled to use an ax to cut away the tangled mass of bushes and vines to get to the treasure.

When reached the coffin was found mounted on poles about ten inches above the ground and covered with palm-leaf bushes. On the inside is the skeleton of a Seminole Indian. Near the skull, on the left side, are four pipes, such as are used by Indians, and a great quantity of matches with the phosphorus off. To the right of the skeleton is a Ballard rifle of 33 calibre, and to the left is an old muzzle loading shot gun, 12 gauge.

Several small files, three knives, one measuring three feet, a match box, a pocket knife, spoons of thread, scissors, metal pot containing bones, supposed to be that of a deer, a string containing four small terrapins, with holes drilled in the upper part of the shells, a 50-cent piece, beads, shells, cartridges, and several other articles too numerous to mention.

Mr. Neal was seen by a Times-Union reporter yesterday morning, and was shown the curiosity. Mr. Neal stated that the supposition is that the Indian was buried about ten years ago. He also has this dead Indian's canoe and one that he was making when he died, also the hut in which he formerly lived.

This is the first body of a Seminole Indian ever brought from the Everglades of Florida in his grave, and it is such a curiosity Mr. Neal will, no doubt make a fortune in exhibiting it about the country.

He leaves Jacksonville this morning with his treasure for Atlanta, Ga., where he will place it on exhibition for a few days, then proceed to Atlantic City, N. J., where he will remain for some time. Mr. Neal said yesterday that he would probably bring the curiosity to Jacksonville during the next Trades Carnival, so that the people of his own state can have a look at it.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

Big Gator Evaporated.
E. A. Douglass and Gabe Long while driving in a buggy near Buda Thursday, saw the trail of an alligator across the road. Got out, tied the horse and followed it to the gator where as Mr. Douglass says a big battle followed. He states that they finally fagged him out, however, and tied him to a tree for safe keeping while they went a few miles for a wagon and assistance in capturing him alive. Upon their return their gatorship had evaporated. Mr. Douglass says he was a big one, fourteen feet long, sure.—Orlando Star.

TO FLOAT TWO FISHING SMACKS

The tug Florence Witherbee sailed last night for St. Joseph's Bay, having been chartered by the owners of two fishing vessels to go to the rescue of the schooners, and make an effort to save them.

The fishing schooners are the Francis Louise, of the fleet of Holst & Co., and the Haze, owned by a Biloxi fishing firm. Both vessels were blown ashore during the past week when they were caught in a storm, but from all reports have so far suffered but little damage.

The report of the accidents was brought here by the gunboat Wasp, which was coming from St. Joseph's, and sighted the two schooners on the beach. The gunboat made an effort to float them by attaching a hawser, but without success.

It is expected that the Florence Witherbee, which was fitted out for the trip, will be able to float the smacks.

The Haze was formerly of this port, having been sold a few months since to Biloxi parties.

SPLENDID DISPLAY OF FINE ARTS

A MINIATURE LOGGIA IN MUSEUM AT THE LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION, WHICH OPENS JUNE 1.

By Blaine Phillips.

Portland, Ore., May 27.—Housed in a fireproof building constructed of concrete stone blocks, the exhibit of fine arts at the Lewis and Clark Exposition will be one of the most thorough, instructive, and interesting displays of its particular character ever made at a similar enterprise.

The Art Museum at the Centennial is located southeast of the Forestry building. The building is planned in the form of an "L," with a classic entrance built on the interior angle. The entrance is supported by Tuscan columns, and surrounded by an attractive cornice and channeau. The facade of the building is extremely simple, broken occasionally by a plain pilaster and wholly devoid of windows. Lights placed seven feet from the concrete floor will be so arranged as to display the works of art to their best advantage.

Frank Vincent Du Mond, the famous artist and proprietor of the Lyme school, has been appointed chief of the art department. He ranks among the foremost painters and illustrators of the country and as a connoisseur is acknowledged preeminent. Mr. Du Mond was a pupil of Boulanger, Lefevre and Benjamin Constant, and of recent years has been tendered some of the world's first awards for his work, notably among them, medals from the Paris Salon and at Boston and various exhibitions.

The art exhibit will be comprised of treasures from all over the world, representing every conceivable branch of art. Mr. Du Mond is now at work assembling the exhibit, and is receiving very material assistance from the commissioners of various countries, which have given the world some of its most noted geniuses. Sig. V. Zeglio, commissioner-general of the Lewis and Clark Exposition from Italy, is in St. Louis, arranging for the shipment to Portland of the entire Italian exhibit, which will include many of the best sculptural works in existence. There will also be imported a number of the famous groups from the Loggia in Florence.

Sculpture, oils, black and white and tapestries will form an important part of the French contribution to the fine arts exhibit. All European countries will be represented with exhibits peculiar to their varied arts. Bohemian glassware and fine decorated crockery will be in evidence.

The allotments from Oriental countries will prove of unusual interest, and afford the visitors to the Centennial an opportunity to examine the old conceptions of the Malay and Mongol races.

A creditable representation of American arts will be made, among the many exhibits being replicas of well-known statues and sculptural groups by St. Gaudens, French, MacMonnies, Tilden, the deaf mute of California, Remington, Altman and East. Cummings, the young genius who recently returned from his studies in Paris.

Among the painters, E. L. Paxton, who has idealized much of Montana's marvelous scenic wonders, will send an excellent representation of his work. Sargent's best efforts in mural decoration and portrait painting will be exhibited. Fonda, Matthews, Libmer, Stanton, Brower, Best and Frederick Fisher, who have achieved brilliant successes as Western painters, will have some of their most satisfactory works on exhibition.

In the black and white, pastel and pyrography field, etchings from the most famous pen artists in the country will comprise a very interesting part of the exhibit. With limited facilities and thousands of miles from the art centers of the world, the fine arts display of the Lewis and Clark Exposition will be most creditable, and one that will make a lasting impression upon the visitor to the Centennial.

Fruit and Intemperance.

There is but one sure cure for the drinking disease or habit, and that is the simplest of all. The cure consists in eating fruits. That will cure the worst case of inebriety that ever afflicted a person. It will entirely destroy the taste for intoxicants and will make the drunkard return to the thoughts and tastes of his childhood, when he loved the luxuries nature had provided for him and when his appetite had not become contaminated by false, cultivated tastes and attendant false desires and imaginary pleasures. No person ever saw a man or woman who liked fruit and who had an appetite for drink. No person ever saw a man or woman with an appetite for drink who liked fruit. The two tastes are at deadly enmity with each other, and there is no room for both of them in the same human constitution. One will surely destroy the other.—What to Eat.

A Remarkable Grotto.

Fingal's cave is one of the most remarkable natural grottoes in Europe. It is situated on the island of Staffa, about seven miles off the west coast of Mull, Scotland. The cavern is 227 feet deep, 42 feet wide at the entrance and 62 feet high at the opening at time of low tide. Tide has a great deal to do with the size and dimensions of Fingal's cave, because it is eminently a sea grotto.

The ocean's waters are always the floor of the cavern. At time of very lowest tide there is twenty feet of water in the cave. It can be readily entered by means of small boats at all times except at the hour of extreme high tide. In Europe Fingal's cave is considered the greatest British wonder.
